already expressed his approval of the resolutions and has suggested that a copy be sent to the three hundred local taxpayers' associations in the state. This will be done.

1. Transfer to the State Department of Public Works any authority or control that has to do with highways and bridges, now vested in the Board of County

Girl Scout Notes

The first forty Girl Scouts who register at Headquarters by Friday afternoon of this week, will be the lucky ones who will go to Cedar Hill this Saturday to enjoy winter day-camping, under the direction of the Camp Committee of the local Council. Each girl will bring her lunch and sports equipment.

The bus will leave the Old Town Hall at 9:45 a. m., from the Park Avenue Church at 10 a. m., and from the Standpipe at 10:10 a. m.

No Scout may go who has not registered at the office. No registrations will be accepted Saturday morning. Each girl must have her parent's written permission to go, unless the parent herself makes the application over the telephone.

There were 17 women present at the opening meeting of the newly-revised Red Cross First Aid Course at the Old Town Hall recently, and there is room for two more students who may wish to enroll this Friday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Jack Wallace is the instructor.

The January meeting of the Leaders' Association will be Tuesday, the 18th, at 6:30 p. m., at the home of Frances Griffin, 26 Florence avenue. The program will be based on the use of Dramatics in the troop.

Two more Brownie Packs will begin this Saturday, January 15, one at Girl Scout Headquarters in the Old Town Hall with Mrs. H. C. Beebe and Mrs. L. D. Wooding, as Leaders, and the other at the home of Mrs. Whitman Hall, 82 Florence avenue. Mrs. Hall will be the Leader of that group.

There is room for several more 7 and 8 year old girls in both Packs, and applications may be made with Miss McGowan at Headquarters, by calling Arl. 0786-R.

Commissioners, thereby eliminating duplication of Divisions or Departments as well as making unnecessary any County appropriations therefor. It seems to us that this present system is obsolete and should be abandoned.

2. That allotments under Chapters #81 and #90 by the State be continued from the gas tax, but in addition that the State assume also the portions now paid by the Counties.

3. That there be no further diversion of any portion of the gas tax to the general fund to be used for purposes other than that for which it was levied. We feel that it is improper, unfair to the motorist and should be stopped.

3a. That a part of said gas tax should be allotted to cities and towns for general road and bridge construction, maintenance and reconstruction purposes, thereby carrying out the object of the tax and at the same time relieving real estate of this burden.

3b. We suggest consideration of allotments from this tax to cover the cost of installation and operation of traffic lights be made to cities and towns as the need for such lights is due entirely to the automobile and is a proper charge against same.

4. All other motor vehicle income aside from this gas tax go into the general fund unless otherwise specifically allotted.

KIWANIS INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS AND ENTERTAINS LADIES

South Portland, Maine, New England secretary, and Everett Ireland, past governor of New England.

The officers installed were as follows: president, Chester R. Whitman; first vice-president, Joseph F. Quinn; second vice-president, Harry E. Baker; treasurer, William D. Israel; secretary, Maurice L. Hatch; directors: Louis Doctoroff, Dr. L. Curtis Foye, Charles Frederick, Arthur J. Mansfield, Thomas J. O'Donnell, Gordon Seavey, and Franklin E. Wyman.

Don Reed of Winchester called his talk "Stop, It's Another Racket." He told especially of the rackets of selling tickets and getting subscriptions and program advertising—all for good causes, but ninety per cent of the money goes to the solicitor and only ten to the cause.

A new racket goes like this: A man buys a car on Saturday after the bank has closed and pays for it with a certified check. The same afternoon he tries to sell it to a "junkie." If the auto dealer is careful—as the racketeer hopes he is—he concludes that the check is no good and has the buyer arrested for evading payment. Gladly, the man spends the week-end in jail. Monday morning the check is proved to be good. The racketeer sues the dealer for false arrest—and collects. In one instance it was $25,000.

The arrangements for this successful affair were made by Franklin P. Hawkes, Elmer Anderson, and Ray Mauger.

TO PRESENT SILVER BEAVER AT ANNUAL BOY SCOUT MEETING

that can come to a man in Scouting, being topped only by the Silver Beaver, given for national work for boys.

This year's annual meeting promises to be not only a large one but a joyous one because for the first time in many years, the President of the Council will be able to report that "at long last Sachem Council is out of the red."

The meeting will be held Saturday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon will be held the business meeting of the Council, election of officers and acceptance of various reports. While these meetings are being held, the wives and women friends of Scouters—and that includes the mothers of Scouts—will find a delightful entertainment provided for them. At 6:30 p. m., the annual banquet will be held in the large ball room of the hotel. President Wm. H. Eckert will preside. Besides the Silver Beaver award, a twenty-five year service pin will be given to a Scouter whose work in the cause of youth has covered that period of time. The speaker of the evening will be Wm. H. Bingham, Director of Athletics at Harvard University.

Tickets can be obtained at the Scout office, Old Town Hall, Arlington, or of any Scout Commissioner.

Hoar and Rohde Win Honors in Essay Contest

The International Printing Ink Corporation recently sponsored a national essay-writing contest in the High Schools of the various states. Arlington High was one of those to compete and the local winners will have their essays among those selected for the grand prize. The contest was divided into two parts, the ninth and tenth grades in the junior division and the eleventh and twelfth grades in the senior division. The main topic of the essay was "The Future of Color in Printing." Arthur E. Robinson, director of the Manual Arts Department at Senior High, and Laurence P. Arthur, printing instructor, served as judges.

The winner in the senior division was Joseph Hoar, a senior in High School. Karl Rohde captured the junior division honors.

HIGH SCORES HOCKEY UPSET BEATING MEDFORD 2 TO 1

The Arlington High School hockey team scored just as much an upset as Belmont did to the previous week, by toppling Medford at the Boston Garden last Saturday afternoon by a score of 2 to 1. Coming from behind in the second period, Duffey tied the score and then with seconds to play, Babine rolled in the winning goal. A great improvement was noted in the Arlington team. Coach Downes had juggled the line around the previous week and gave strength to the first line, which sorely needed it.

Medford did not take long in getting started in the first frame. Their first goal came after a double pass, Rosenblad to Schena to Riley, who whiffed the puck to the strings. Fearful of a repetition of the Belmont game, the Arlington pucksters settled down to a conservative game of defensive hockey. Arlington got a few three-man breaks before the bell rang, but were stopped cold at the Medford defense.

Equalizer Caged

In the second canto things were running very smoothly for the local sextet. When Arlington sent the puck into Medford territory the defense of Barnstead and Blanchard moved up and hemmed the opposition in. It was on one of those offensive thrusts that Captain Duffey picked up a pass from Babine and drilled. The equalizer passed the dumbfounded Meoli in the Medford goal. Barnstead was then sent to the penalty coop and it looked for a while as if Medford might score, but the bell ended the period before any damage was done.

Grim determination was firmly set in the hearts of the players of both teams and it wasn't until the second half of the last period that the game was put on the literal ice. For one whole period the teams battled away until exhaustion was evident. Five-man rushes were used by both teams and it was with one of these that Arlington scored. With Barnstead and Blanchard standing on the Medford blue line, the opposition could not clear the puck. Babine cut loose with a cross-ice shot and Meolie reached out with his stick and stopped it. He took a few nonchalant stabs at it and before he knew it the puck had rolled into the goal. Sixteen seconds later the bell rang. The summary:

ARLINGTON—Lyons, Meaney, rw; Babine, Rowe, c; W. Duffey, Hickey, lw; Barnstead, rd; Blanchard, ld; Carny, g.

MEDFORD—Rosenblad, Hughes, lw; Riley, DeVoe, c; Schena, MacPherson, rw; R. Glynn, Wood, ld; P. Glynn, Crowley, rd; Meolie, g.

Score—Arlington 2, Medford 1. Goals—Medford: Riley (Schena, Rosenblad), 5:2; Arlington: Duffey (Babine, Lyons), 9:03; Arlington: Babine (Lyons, Duffey), 11:44.

Penalties—Hughes, Blanchard, Lyons, Rosenblad.

Referee—Kelly and Cunningham.

Time—Three 12-m. periods.

Arlington High to Enter Northeastern Track Meet

Arlington High is among the 36 schools which already have signified their intentions of entering the eleventh annual Northeastern University interscholastic track meet at the Boston Garden on the afternoon of January 29th. Edward S. Parsons, director of the meet, expects a record entry for the competition.

The program will follow the regular schedule with the single exception that the relay will have legs of 320 yards instead of 294 yards as in previous meets. The Garden has constructed a new 11-lap track to replace the old 12-lap, and the schoolboys in the Northeastern meet will christen the new board saucer.

With the relay distance now changed a record will be established this year. Newton High held the old distance record at 2 minutes 15 seconds, having shaved one second off Watertown High's time last year.

The other events are the same: 50-yard dash, 300-yard run, 600-yard run, 1000-yard run, 45-yard low hurdles, 12-pound shot put, and running high jump.

The complete list of the schools which expect to compete: Arlington, Boston College High, Boston English, Brighton, Brockton, Brookline, Chelsea, Boston Commerce, Dorchester, Everett, Hyde Park, Jamaica Plain, Lawrence, Lowell, Lynn Classical, Lynn English, Malden, Mechanic Arts, Medford, Milton, New Bedford, Middleboro, North Quincy, Norwood, Quincy, Roslindale, Roxbury Memorial, Watertown, Weymouth, Winthrop, Boston Latin, Trade, East Boston, Somerville, South Boston, and Dedham.

H. S. QUINTET WINS FIRST LEAGUE GAME

Beats Brookline High, 34-24.

The basketball team won its first Suburban League game last Tuesday afternoon at the Arlington gym by defeating Brookline High, 34 to 24. "Mush" Corbett again led the local quintet in scoring, with 11 points, bringing his average up to a little over 15 points a game. Corbett was strongly supported by Marty Powers and Mike Burke, who totaled 9 and 8 points respectively. Arlington's main worry in this game was Joe Fitzpatrick, the Brookline center. He scored 13 points and was always dangerous due to the fact that he was always shooting. One-handers from the middle of the floor were his specialty.

Both teams opened slow and for fully three minutes they passed the ball around without taking a shot, looking for an opening. Brookline broke the ice and scored first. Arlington woke up and Mike Burke sank two in a row. Arlington had a slight edge all the way and led 8 to 5 at the quarter. Both teams battled even in the second period and neither gained a point. Arlington still holding the 3 pointer at 14 to 11.

Pressure On

The pressure was on in the second half and Brookline slowly but surely wilted. Arlington missed several scoring chances in the third period when Mike Burke and Corbett were under the basket with only one Brookline covering the two of them. Powers, Corbett and Burke continued to roll and Arlington was leading 28 to 11 at the end of the third quarter. Brookline sent in a batch of fresh material in the middle of the last period to give themselves a stronger offense, and the local boys, tired as they were, felt just a little short of matching every Brookline basket.

Weekly Boost: To Arthur Gore, the finest referee in the business. Art worked the Medford-Lowell game in the afternoon and had the Chelsea game Friday night. He must be an iron man to do that!

Your correspondent had the extreme pleasure of witnessing both games that day. In the afternoon Gore blew 33 fouls at the Medford game and 28 that night at the local game.

That newly organized basketball team, the "Royals," are going right to town. They beat the Tufts Frosh by a score of 36 to 34.

John Cashman put on an excellent show of himself last Friday night. McCarthy of Chelsea knew his weakness of anger and tried to make him lose his temper but Cash outsmarted him.

Arlington will travel to Woburn tomorrow night where they should run up about 50 points.

The hockey team should have little trouble with Newton. What a surprise last Saturday was!

Weekly Knock: To the boys that pelted the Chelsea bus after the game Friday night. Two windows were shattered but luckily no one was hurt.

Jurors drawn by the Selectmen at their Monday evening meeting for the first criminal session of the Cambridge court on February 7th were Edward L. Shinn of 74 Florence avenue, and William J. O'Donnell, 17 Lorne road.

Red Devils of Chelsea Win from High, 29 to 27

The old Chelsea jinx that has been hanging over Arlington for the past four or five years continued to linger last Friday night when the Red Devils came to town and won a 29 to 27 decision over the local quintet at the high school gym. Proof that basketball is a much faster game with the no-tap rule in use was evident. Both teams were continually on their toes and had to make use of the slightest of breaks that came their way. "Mush" Corbett, the local scoring ace, broke into the double figure scoring, as did his other forward, Marty Powers, but even they were not enough to curb the powerful Chelsea team.

This game also proclaimed the return of John Cashman to the fold. Cashman substituted for Thomas at center and played a marvelous game, not scoring much but holding the evasive McCarthy of Chelsea to two floor goals. Just before the close of the first half an attempt to rise Long John's ire was made by McCarthy when he deliberately pushed Cashman into the stands, but the local lad was too smart for him and he just laughed it off.

Arlington scored first blood in the opening period and took an early four-point lead on three successive baskets by Captain Corbett. Evans, the Chelsea guard, realized that with Corbett ringing up these scores Chelsea didn't stand much of a chance, so he assigned himself to "dog" Corbett all night. Arlington had a slim 2-point lead when the first period ended.

Cashman Blankets McCarthy
At this point Cashman was trotted in to blanket the dangerous McCarthy. Scoring was scarce in this session and with Corbett completely bottled for no points, Chelsea talked one more basket than Arlington and the horn sounded the recess with the score at 12 all.

The visitors came back strong in the third stanza and scored three before Arlington could gain their bearings. Corbett shook himself loose several times from his guard but he always ran into difficulty under the Chelsea basket when they would momentarily switch men to block his difficult angle shots. At the end of this third period Arlington was trailing by a score of 21 to 18.

Foul shots played a prominent part in the final period's play. It was via this route that Arlington managed to close a great gap between them and Chelsea. The invaders saw need of drastic measures in holding the local forces in check, so they used this method in protecting their non-to-safe lead. Mike Burke scored Arlington's final point with a foul shot. With just fifteen seconds to play, Corbett intercepted a Chelsea pass and dribbled to the opponent's basket with all five Chelseaes hard on his heels. Mush lost his footing as he went up for the shot and the ball rolled around the hoop twice and then dropped harmlessly out.

What happens when a timid young banker goes to Hollywood to take over a $10,000,000 motion picture studio and tries to run it by the science of mathematics is hilariously depicted in "Stand-In," the comedy starring Leslie Howard and Joan Blondell, which begins a three day engagement at the University Theatre on Sunday. Howard has his gayest role as Atterbury Dodd, the banker, and Miss Blondell is cast in the title role of Lester "Sugar" Plum, the stand-in who helps him over the Hollywood hurdles and flies in the face of fictional Hollywood tradition by staying a stand-in and not soaring to stardom.

HOW TO ACCUMULATE MONEY

Many people find it difficult to accumulate much money through saving. Usually these people have no definite plan for saving. However, when they adopt systematic saving under our plan, they begin to succeed. This plan requires the saving of definite amounts regularly towards Serial Saving Shares. It is this regular saving, plus compound dividends which makes money accumulate in a surprisingly short period of time.

If you have never tried our plan of saving, why put off starting your way to successful saving any longer? Take out

ARE YOU A CHRISTIAN?

January 17 will usher in a critical week for Arlington and its forty thousand citizens. It will be a feverishly busy week for the officers and workers connected with the Arlington Community Chest, which starts its annual appeal on that date. It will be an anxious week for the organizations which depend upon the Chest for the breath of life. But even more important than those things, January 17 to 26 will provide an acid test for the community as a whole. Will Arlington come through? Does the town know the true meaning of charity?

Of late there has been a strong tendency to discard that word "Charity," but to us it is still one of the most potent expressive words in the vocabulary of a straight-thinking community. According to Webster's, charity means, first of all, "Christian love and benevolence." No need to go deeper than that.

And if Christianity depends upon charity, then, most certainly, charity depends upon Christianity. As the Methodist-Episcopal minister, Richard T. Broeg, said from the pulpit of the Orthodox Congregational Church last Sunday morning, the success of the Community Chest is the deep concern of every Christian in this town.

Please note that Mr. Broeg said, "every Christian." Obviously he did not mean just the Methodists, nor the Congregationalists, nor did he mean just the church-goers, for that matter. Anyone would hesitate to say that there are more Christians outside the church than in, but at a time like this, when universal Christianity is so deeply needed, even the clergy must hope there are. For now comes the question, are there enough truly benevolent people in this town to provide the drive so vitally necessary to Community Chest success, which is itself so vitally necessary? Will you yourself prove your Christianity?

OPPORTUNITIES APPRECIATED

That Arlington people heartily appreciate the opportunities offered them in the Community Evening Classes is proven by the number who registered Monday evening and by the interest shown by those attending.

So large was the attendance that in some cases the classes had to be moved to larger rooms while in others the listeners sat two in a seat and perched on window sills. In every room, no matter how crowded, the assembly was an orderly one. Apparently, every one had come with the intention of learning.

It is worthy of notice, too, that the "pupils" are of all kinds. There are young people, evidently just out of school; there are those who have been out a long, long while. There are those who, apparently, have had many opportunities and those whose opportunities have been so few that they are the more determined to seize this one.

And truly it is an unusual opportunity for not only are the subjects treated of special interest, but the men and women who teach them are unusually well qualified.

The classes prove two things—that there are men and women of ability in town who are willing to give their time to help their fellow citizens, and that these fellow citizens are eager to accept their help.

SENSIBLE SUGGESTIONS

Sensible suggestions are those contained in the resolution passed by the Taxpayers' Association which appear on the first page of this issue.

The County Commission dates back to the days when towns were few and far between and the horse and buggy miles were long from one end of the state to the other. Then highways came naturally under the authority and care of the county. Today, the work of the County Commission duplicates that of state and town.

Taking from it the authority over highways and bridges would eliminate divisions and departments and result in the expenditure of less money and less effort. Altogether, this seems a worth while economy.

The paragraphs concerning the gas tax emphasize the original intention of that tax. The motorists pay the tax and the revenue from it should be used for their convenience. Its use for traffic lights is sensible, as such lights are necessary to modern roads.

It is to be hoped that these suggestions will be seriously considered by the Commission and that they will be embodied in bills introduced during this session of the legislature.

Briefs

There's a lot of adhesive matter on the crowbar Japanese propagandists use to force the Anglo-Saxons apart—anti-British and pro-American propaganda.

The most hopeful trend of the week was Mr. Roosevelt's indication of willingness to talk things over with business and labor. But his major objectives stand.

"With hardly an exception, the urban counties have voted wet and the rural ones dry"—reported the Associated Press after the forty-sixth Kentucky county out of 120 had voted dry under the local option law—and this is the state leading the United States in the production of whiskey. The rural loafer who spends for liquor the money his family needs for food, the ne'er-do-well who turns to alcohol to drown his failure, the besotted wife-beater, the reeling drunk on the street—all these are known in the rural area; the evils of liquor are not a mere academic problem there, they are an actuality. Who can wonder that the dry returns always come from the rural precincts?

Premier Mussolini is reported to have lost a check for $350 sent to him by supporters in the United States. Presumably he has looked for it in all the various portfolios he holds in the Italian Cabinet.

Justice Sutherland's resignation, effective January 18, leaves President Roosevelt the opportunity of naming another jurist sympathetic to his views, establishing a definite "liberal" majority.

Evidence that the Japanese are in North China to stay is on every hand; most of the passengers in the first, and second-class cars are uniformed or civilian Japanese; the throngs of newly arrived Japanese in the hotels of Tientsin; the increasing number of new Japanese restaurants and geisha houses; the growing number of advertisements of courses in Japanese for local Chinese residents.

"The Life of Emile Zola" has been chosen by nation's critics as the best film for 1937.

Earl Constantine, managing director of the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers, explaining that mills in the United States consume more than half of Japan's raw silk exports, says that the average pair of women's silk stockings contains a fraction over one ounce of raw silk, of which "the outside value to Japan is a dime." The average retail price of a pair of stockings is 85 cents, he adds, "so that for every 10 cents of Japanese value, it contains 75 cents of American value—and is an American-made product."

The Ford Motor Company denies the allegations of Labor Relations Board that the company violated the Wagner Act; the Board asks the Federal Court to enforce the decision ordering the company to reinstate 29 employees.

A style note says that women's spring hats will be odder than ever, which might well enough mean that there will be no change at all.

One of the most powerful countries in Europe has suddenly dropped from sight, so far as its immediate influence upon Europe's international relations is concerned. This does not seem to be an exaggerated description of Soviet Russia's position in Europe as a result of the Soviet internal crisis.

The great tower which is to house London University's library of 300,000 books is London's first skyscraper, with 22 stories.

A euphemistic substitute for the opprobrious term "dog-catcher" is sought by the American Humane Society. How about Commissioner of Canine Correction?

The budget for the fiscal year has a deficit of $949,606,000.

We have announcement of trade agreement negotiations with Great Britain which means a strengthening of the political as well as economic ties between the two most powerful democracies.

Representative John O'Connor (D) of New York: What I want to find out is what happened to the other 340 families? When I was being brought up I believed that all the wrong in the country was in the "400," and now they are down to 60.

General Motors has laid off 30,000 men after a drop of 50 per cent in sales last fall—most severe decline in the company's history. Word that Hudson Motors is taking on 6000 more workers during the next ten weeks sheds a heartening ray of light on Detroit's dismal industrial scene.

WINTER HILL CO-OPERATIVE PLEASED WITH RESULTS

The officers of the Winter Hill Co-operative Federal Savings and Loan Association of Somerville are pleased with the results accomplished during the last six months. This is the first six month period they have been operating under a Federal charter.

The Bank was organized in 1906 and Federalized in June 1937 and during the six month operation under the Federal charter they have increased their assets nearly one half Million of Dollars. The Bank now has assets of close to Seven Millions of Dollars. The gain in assets is especially pleasing as no extensive advertising was done to attract new funds. But the public was quick to recognize the fact that the individual savings account is insured up to five thousand dollars by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an instrumentality of the United States Government. Furthermore in addition to cash and investments, there is at the Federal Home Loan Bank of Boston a liquidity reserve of $1,080,500 available to the association at any time for any purpose.

A demand for good mortgages has been highly satisfactory with this institution. The officers attribute this demand as public recognition of the rapid and efficient service which is extended by the organization.

portion of the audience. Some of them admitted, however, that the beautiful coiffure, complexion, and effective costuming of the lecturer distracted their attention from her more serious purpose.

At any rate, they all had a grand time, both during the program and the reception which followed, when Miss Alexander was always the center of a lively group and never lacked for dance partners.

Mrs. Smith Welcomes Guests
Mrs. L. E. A. Smith, president of the club, welcomed the guests graciously, pointing out in her brief talk that the happiness of the new year is within us. Miss Marjorie Rimbach, president of the Junior Woman's Club, whom Mrs. Smith introduced, told especially of the work that the Blind Circle of her club is doing in entertaining the blind.

There followed selections by the quartet, accompanied by Reginald Boardman. In the absence of Eugene Conley, Robert Moore sang first tenor. George Wheeler was second tenor; John Metcalf, baritone, and Edward Cole, bass.

A Brilliant Speaker
Miss Alexander was a brilliant but disconnected speaker. The United States, she said, was pointed out as a horrible example of democracy—"the administration wants to keep you in the cradle until you are twenty-one and in a rocking chair after you are forty."

The depression she believed was due to the unwise action of the Federal Reserve Board in 1929. The results of production for use and not for profit—as in the United States—were horribly evident in Russia. John L. Lewis will be the candidate of the Labor Party in 1940. She reviewed the course of the C. I. O. strikes in several states and the conduct of the various governors during these strikes. Freedom of speech and the press must be preserved.

Her indictments of the administration, to which she expressed strong opposition, included the farm subsidies, the appointment of Hugo Black to the Supreme Court, and of such tirades against capital and the "sixty American families" as that of Secretary Ickes.

Give Business a Chance
In conclusion, she expressed the

Seven Times Its Own Weight

How many pounds will this all-steel Studebaker President hold? With fifty-pound bags of sand, Studebaker engineers found out.

Five tons of sand piled in this specially-constructed basket on the broad back of the rugged Studebaker. A test never dared before.

The load grows greater. Luther Johnson, famed race driver, tries the doors to discover that they still open and close as freely as ever.

The box-girder construction of Studebaker's body frame enables it to withstand this enormous weight. Twenty-thousand pounds and the body still stands the gaff.

More than twelve tons, before the top and body gave signs of collapse. Inset shows that this sturdy Studebaker held exactly 24,750 pounds—nearly seven times its own weight.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, January 16.

The Golden Text is: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. . . . In Him was life; and the life was the light of men." (John 1:1, 4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Hear, O my son, and receive my sayings; and the years of thy life shall be many. . . . When thou goest, thy steps shall not be straitened; and when thou runnest, thou shalt not stumble. Take fast hold of instruction; let her not go; keep her; for she is thy life" (Proverbs 4:10, 12-13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth, Life, and Love are the only legitimate and eternal demands on man, and they are spiritual lawgivers, enforcing obedience through divine statutes. Controlled by the divine intelligence, man is harmonious and eternal" (p. 184).

Mr. Beal Will Paint Heroism of Circus Folk

Almost everything to be learned from George Brinton Beal's illustrated talk, "Through the Back Door of the Circus," to be given at Junior High East by Junior Entertainments on Friday, Jan. 14th, at 4 p. m., and Saturday, January 15th, at 9:30 a. m., is new. Few have knowledge of circus ways, except through the movies, with their usual romanticizing of any theme, and through stories, many of which are written by someone who has never been "on the inside" of a circus.

It is easy to accept Mr. Beal's statement that no one ever gets to know a circus man or woman, because they dwell in a world of their own—a world in which high personal standards abound. If circus folks are not immaculately clean every day it is because they must work feverishly in all kinds of weather because "the show must go on."

Reams could be written, based on what Mr. Beal will tell his audiences, for he himself has lived the hazardous life of the circus in the making of this momentous film, and has had many hairbreadth escapes. The vital thought, however, is the heroism, the application and the loyalty of the circus tribe. It will be painted as a lovable institution with a lovable personnel. Mr. Beal's accounts are sincere and void of humbug.

"Through the Back Door of the Circus" is a motion picture in color, the third of the series of Junior Entertainments sponsored by the Friends of the Drama and the Woman's Club, with the cooperation of the School Committee and the Parent-Teacher Associations. Mrs. John O. Matthews is chairman of the committee and is assisted by Mrs. Arthur W. Sampson, Mrs. Elmer E. Barber, Mrs. Harold A. Cahalin, Mrs. Clifford D. Strout, Miss Helen Gale, Mrs. William A. Carr, Mrs. Russell T. Hamlet, Mrs. Philip H. Burt, Mrs. M. Norcross Stratton, Mrs. Frederick Mansfield, Mrs. Paul Heeger, Mrs. John Pitko and Mrs. Ralph O'Neill.

ADULTS CROWD SCHOOL FOR FIRST EVENING CLASSES

Armstrong of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which was the first in the series of Legislation and Internal Relations Lectures.

Mr. Armstrong told his hearers that it is impossible to discuss economics nowadays without also discussing politics as the two are so interwoven. He said also that all views are open to debate and that he was giving his own opinions.

Control Would Serve Purpose

He admitted the justice of the attack on big business but expressed the belief that control would serve the purpose; that if the government would lay down rules, business would follow them; it was the uncertainty that made business unwilling to go ahead and spend money. Unless government extends a hand to business he believes that recovery will be slow.

It is his opinion that people cannot get richer and raise the standard of living by working fewer hours. Instead, it is necessary to produce more and to lower prices so that every one can have more.

Tariff, he thinks, is not good for the country now that we are a creditor nation. If we want other countries to pay us we must let them sell us goods.

He also expressed the belief that socialism would work—but at an awful price in the loss of personal freedom.

Popular Book Reviews

Another crowded room was that where Allan Perry gave his book reviews. So crowded was it that the class was moved into the library. Here Mr. Perry reviewed "Of Mice and Men" by John Steinbeck and "The Citadel" by A. J. Cronin.

It is expected that the attendance will be even larger this evening when many of the most interesting classes have their first meeting, among them those in Personality and Charm, Contract Bridge, and Fraudulent Advertising.

Dr. McGillicuddy emphasized the need of early training in obedience, discipline and control. Her varied discussions with different groups of boys and girls all over the state show, too, the need of parents pooling their interests so that the child will not develop an exaggerated ego. Believing that this world is a rather difficult place in which to live, Dr. McGillicuddy has also a sympathetic understanding of today's child. Taking for an example Charles Lindbergh, noted aviator, whose mother and father were a school teacher and a lawyer, she reminded parents that only conflict arises from forcing children to do the things for which they have no talent. The association eagerly awaits another of Dr. McGillicuddy's delightful chats.

Earlier in the evening a representative of the Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign appealed to all who were able to do so, to give and in so doing, "Be a Good Neighbor," which is the slogan of the campaign.

Anton Kovar and a group of talented young violinists pleased the audience with their delightful music. The banner for the largest attendance was awarded to Miss Margaret C. Ahearn's class. Delicious sandwiches and hot coffee were served at the close of the meeting.

SAGAS OF THE SKIES

By R. C. Oertel
Manager, Aviation Division, Sales Department
Colonial Esso Marketers

TWENTIETH century mission-aries have more and more taken to the skies and use planes to cover impassable terrain and huge distances. One of these "flying priests," Father Paul Schulte, O.M.I., utilized his plane to conquer aerial wastes, and save the life of a tiny baby.

He roared into Mistake Bay, Northern Canada, recently to pick up his friend Father Dioneo, who was to have been waiting hunting. There was no sign of the hunting party, and an inquiry at the Hudson's Bay Company's office revealed that Father Dioneo had hurried to the home of the four-day-old Eskimo baby, who was seriously ill, and was without medical aid.

Quickly Father Schulte took off for Chesterfield Inlet, home of the company physician. His flight seemed fruitless when he was told that the doctor was at Baker Lake, 200 miles west of Chesterfield. He reached the doctor by radio and found that the physician planned to return a day later by the ice breaker St. Therese.

Early the next morning, Father Schulte sped to Baker Lake, setting his plane down alongside the St. Therese. It was the work of but a moment to transfer the doctor to the plane, and set out for Chesterfield to pick up the doctor's surgical instruments.

Up from Chesterfield Inlet shot the plane, carrying doctor and "flying priest" on their errand of mercy. Quickly they arrived in Mistake Bay, and hurried off to the baby. The operation performed in the tiny cabin saved the baby's life, after which it was baptized by Father Schulte. Thus dramatically did science and religion make use of the airplane to do the job.
